

Family - Practice 4 Markers

*Note: the third question in each section below is a repeat of the 'Item B' questions above.

Paper	Family: 4 Markers
SAM 1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Identify and explain one factor that may have led to an increase in the number of children raised in single-parent families referred to as a concern in Item A. Identify and explain one advantage of using unstructured interviews to investigate relationships between family members. From Item B, identify and describe the research method used by the Rapoports including what you know of their perspective on the family. Identify one function of the family and explain how you would investigate this function using questionnaires.
SAM 2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Describe the type of statistical data shown in Item A. Identify the trend shown by the data and explain one factor which may account for this trend. Identify and explain one advantage of using postal questionnaires to investigate the domestic division of labour within families. From Item B, identify and describe one way in which Delphy and Leonard believed that the family could be patriarchal, including what you know of their sociological perspective on family. Identify one ethical issue that you would need to consider when investigating the domestic division of labour and explain how you would deal with this issue in your investigation.
2019	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Identify and explain one factor that may account for the traditional division of domestic labour shown in Item A. Identify and explain one advantage of using structured interviews to investigate conjugal role relationships. From Item B, identify and describe the research method used by Oakley, including what you know of her perspective on the family. Identify one ethical issue that you would need to consider when investigating attitudes towards arranged marriage and explain how you would deal with this issue in your investigation.
2020	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Describe the type of statistical data shown in Item A. Identify the trend shown by the data and explain one factor which may account for this trend. Identify and explain one disadvantage of using postal questionnaires to investigate the domestic division attitudes towards cohabitation. From Item B, identify and describe one way in which the family can be seen as important for society, including what you know of Parson's perspective on the family. Identify and explain one advantage of using structured interviews to research the role of parents in families.
2021	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Describe the type of statistical data shown in Item A. Identify the trend shown by the data and explain one factor which may account for this trend. Identify and explain one disadvantage of using secondary data to investigate attitudes towards marriage From Item B, identify and describe the research method used by Willmott and Young in the early 1970s, including what you know of their perspective on the family. Identify one function of the family and explain how you would investigate this function using a case study.
2022	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Identify and explain one factor that may account for the differences in the allocation of domestic tasks as shown in Item A. Identify and explain one advantage of using a mixed methods approach to investigate conjugal role relationships. From Item B, identify and describe one way in which Zaretsky saw the family as benefiting capitalist society, including what you know of his perspective on the family.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Identify one ethical issue that you would need to consider when investigating relationships within families and explain how you would deal with this issue in your investigation.
2023	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Describe the type of statistical data shown in Item A. Identify the trend shown by the data and explain one factor which may account for this trend. Identify and explain one disadvantage of using unstructured interviews to investigate one-person households. From Item B, identify and describe one way in which Oakley saw the conventional family as being patriarchal, including what you know of her perspective on the family. Identify one practical issue you would need to consider when using postal questionnaires to investigate role relationships within the family and explain how you would deal with this in your investigation.